

A portrait of the artist as a very successful artist

North Hatley sculptor deals with instant recognition

By Peter Scriver

NORTH HATLEY — Nicole Taillon is enjoying an artist's success as a sculptor.

The sculptor, who started in North Hatley 10 years ago, is producing sculptures, paintings and commissions. She even made the statue of a man at her school. She was also a finalist in the 2018 National Sculpture Competition and was the first to be named as a finalist.

And she had her first show in her home province. She was also a finalist in the 2018 National Sculpture Competition.

She said she's not really doing it for money. She's doing it because she loves it. She's doing it because she's proud of her work.

She said she's not really doing it for money. She's doing it because she loves it. She's doing it because she's proud of her work.

Nicole Taillon is working with her steel statue of a woman in North Hatley.

Sculptor finds happiness in her work

By Peter Scriver
NORTH HATLEY — Nicole Taillon is enjoying an artist's success as a sculptor. She said she's not really doing it for money. She's doing it because she loves it. She's doing it because she's proud of her work.